

Washington
Anxious Over
Russ Reply In Iran Demands

Washington, March 8 (AP)—Official Washington today anxiously awaited Russia's reply to this country's demand that Soviet troops leave Iran immediately.

Some officials believe that reply may go far toward determining whether American-Russian relations improve or continue to worsen. There was no indication when it would arrive from Moscow.

Nikolai V. Novikov, charge d'affaires of the Russian embassy, made his first diplomatic call in months on Secretary of State Byrnes yesterday. Officials said later, however, that he did not discuss either of the two United States notes sent to Moscow Tuesday.

It was believed likely that the State Department would make public the second of those notes sometime today. It concerns reported Soviet withdrawals of industrial equipment from Manchuria and proposals for Soviet-Chinese operation of Manchurian industries.

U. S. Note Discussed

Declaring that the United States "cannot remain indifferent" to Russia's decision to keep troops in Iran, the note released last night said the Soviet action was contrary to:

The Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill declaration in Tehran December 1, 1943, in which the three governments pledged "maintenance of the independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity of Iran."

The British-Russian-Iranian treaty of January 29, 1942, which pledged withdrawal of all foreign troops from Iran by six months after the end of the war—March 2.

Principles of the United Nations.

The note expressed the "earnest hope" that Russia would "do its part" by withdrawing immediately all Soviet forces from the territory of Iran, to promote the international confidence which is so necessary for peaceful progress among the peoples of all nations."

SHERIFF, COPS
AND TROOPERS
HAVE TROUBLE

Gettysburg borough police and the county sheriff had difficulties with a number of persons Thursday night with the following results:

Adams County Sheriff John E. Millhimes was struck along the left cheekbone by a prisoner being brought to the jail.

Borough officer Albert Wolford "nearly lost his trousers," which were ripped in the attempt to subdue the prisoner.

A Gettysburg college student, who is alleged to have taken a souvenir box from a GI, was told that he would be prosecuted for larceny unless he returned the box by Monday.

Borough officer Clark W. Staley almost was struck while trying to interrogate a stranger in town.

Attacks Officer

William Harris, a cook at a local restaurant was picked up by Borough Police officer Wolford and Private George Evanko of the local state police in the borough police car about 11:40 o'clock and started for the jail. Enroute there, Wolford says, Harris attempted to wrest the wheel from Wolford, who was driving. Quieted after that attempt, Harris waited until the car reached the jail, according to Wolford. Then, says the borough officer, Harris made himself limber when he got out of the car and it took all the two police officers could do to get him to the jail office.

According to Wolford, when Harris reached the jail office all the limberness disappeared. The local man, police say, "went on a rampage" during which he hit the sheriff in the face and ripped Wolford's trousers partway off him before being subdued by the sheriff and police officers and placed in a cell on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. This morning Harris paid a fine of $10 and costs on a drunk and disorderly charge before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Transient Is Subdued

About an hour before Harris began his activities Borough Officer Clark W. Staley stopped a transient on Carlisle street and started to in-

TELLS FARMERS OF DANGERS IN CURRENT 'IDEAS'

"Men profit best when they consider the welfare of others first" is still the wisest statement that was ever made," Dr. M. E. John, of the department of rural sociology, Pennsylvania State college, told members of the Adams County Farm Bureau Cooperative Thursday at their annual meeting in the Gettysburg high school building.

Doctor John's talk on "Dangerous Ideas" in which he declared "if you would know what will happen in the future study the ideas of men today" concluded the activities of the 12th annual session of the cooperative members.

Plan Petroleum Plant

Other talks during the afternoon session of the farmers brought out that:

The Farm Bureau is planning to establish a bulk petroleum station in Gettysburg and will deliver petroleum products to its nearly 1,200 members in the near future.

The feed situation is rapidly becoming worse and that farmers who do not have large supplies of feed on hand should begin immediately to cut down on their livestock production.

"Dangerous Ideas"

Farm Bureau insurance has increased by 25 per cent in automobile policies and now has 3,000 policies in the county with 5,500 coverages, and the coverage of its life and fire insurance policies has now reached the million-dollar mark in both types of insurance.

Doctor John listed as dangerous to the future of the nation the "idea many people have that what they get from the government does not cost them anything." "What you receive from the federal or state government you must pay for in one way or another," the State College educator declared, "if you are running for a local office, the best way to get into office is to promise a bribe. But if you run for a state or national office you must promise to give more things to the community than your opponent. Unfortunately for that way of thinking it is still true that the dollar which has to go the farthest has the shortest shelf life when it returns."

Danger From Pressure Groups

"It should be obvious that the only way the federal or state government can get money is by taxing its people. Would it not be more sensible and cheaper to be a little more liberal with the county, township and town funds and a little less free with federal and state funds? What you spend locally has only one set of hands to pass through. When the federal or state government provides a service, there are many overhead expenses that must be added. The worst feature is that many good services are set up by the government and sections that do not need the services seek them because they feel they are getting the services for nothing. But that only wastes the money that the government has set aside for a good purpose."

Doctor John listed as another "dangerous idea" the "feeling that the government has an obligation to guarantee a profit no matter how well a business or farm is conducted. But don't forget that we became a great and efficient nation because of competition. If you cut out the fear of loss then you cut out the best incentive for cheaper and better production."

"A third dangerous idea is that government is best which is most favorable to your own group. Very seldom do people ask what effect does proposed legislation have on the people of the nation. Instead we ask—what effect does it have on me? The result is formation of pressure groups, with each group seeking—

Times Expands Supplement
Service To Littlestown

The publication of a Littlestown Supplement with today's issue of The Gettysburg Times marks the inauguration of a service which henceforth will bring to Littlestown readers a news and advertising coverage which other sections of Adams county have long enjoyed, but which The Times has, until now, been unable to provide for Littlestown because of various wartime restrictions.

These restrictions have been removed or diminished. They included, during the war years, gasoline rationing, a serious shortage of paper, and other drawbacks. Gettysburg and Littlestown are now connected by an excellent highway. Littlestown is an integral part of Adams county. Just as the highway makes the two boroughs close neighbors, so The Times will endeavor to make the county seat and its neighbor more conversant with each other and the entire county through the medium of the printed word.

FORMER STUDENT IS ASSISTANT TO
MAJ. HOLLINGER

A former Gettysburg college student who studied military tactics in the college ROTC a half dozen years ago under Major John C. Hollinger, then a lieutenant, has returned to the college as Major Hollinger's assistant. He is Second Lt. John P. Martin of Wyomissing, Pa. Major Hollinger is professor of military science and tactics at the college.

Lieutenant Martin was born in Freetown, Sierra Leone, a British protectorate in Africa. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Martin, and his father was then a missionary and principal of Albert academy. Lieutenant Martin came to the United States when he was five years old. His father was at Lebanon Valley college and then was head of the science department of Wyoming high school and is now at Columbia university.

Married Local Girl

Lieutenant Martin was a student here in 1939, 1940 and 1941, a member of Phi Gamma Delta, a member of the staff of the Gettysburgian, and on the soccer and wrestling teams in his freshman year. REPORTS "BALMY"
MARCH IN 1921

The warm and balmy breezes of the present March are not unusual so far compared with the spring of 1921, according to C. B. Stover, 313 North Stratton street.

Mr. Stover today pointed out that "1921 was noteworthy for its freakish weather in the early part of the year. Following a period of rather consistently warm days through the latter part of February and March, some apple trees came into full bloom by March 27 when the mercury registered 86 degrees. The usual blooming period for apple trees is about May 1 to 3.

"However on March 28 at noon after a warm morning a northwest wind of considerable fury brought snow squalls and much colder temperatures, reaching 22 degrees, ten degrees below freezing, during the night. Nearly all of the peach and a large portion of the apple blossoms were killed. Radishes and onions planted in the garden on March 11 were ready for table use on April 30."

Mr. Stover added that he hopes the same last blast of winter does not occur this year—stating "we need a good fruit crop."

CO-OP ENDORSES
RECREATIONAL
YOUTH CENTER

The Adams County Farm Bureau Cooperative Thursday joined the list of organizations endorsing the proposal to establish a county-wide community center as a "living memorial" to World War II veterans.

The endorsement came in the form of a resolution presented at the end of the annual all-day session held in the Gettysburg high school auditorium.

The resolution read: "That this association endorse the general idea and cooperate with other county groups in studying the proposal that a county Community Center be established in the form of a Living Memorial to the Veterans of World War II. Such a memorial should provide recreational, educational and welfare facilities for all the people of the county."

John W. Black, chairman of the resolutions committee, read the series of six resolutions that ended with the approval of the living memorial idea which has been previously suggested by a number of other organizations in the county.

GREAT STRIDES
IN AGRICULTURE
HERE: HARTMAN

Adams county has become during the last six years a more predominantly agricultural section than ever before, County Agent M. T. Hartman asserted Thursday afternoon in a talk before 500 members of the Adams County Farm Bureau cooperative at their 12th annual meeting in the local high school building.

By the end of 1945 the number of farms in the county had increased to 3,213, a total of 142 more than the number in 1939, the county agent declared, and the total acreage under cultivation as farm land had increased by 8,492 acres over the 1939 figures.

As a result of the increased farm production, the county is high among the first 100 counties in the United States in farm production and is among the leading 10 counties in the Commonwealth.

How County Ranks

The county is 41st in the United States in chicken production, 56th in egg production, 88th in sweet corn, 11th in apples, 27th in peaches and 28th in cherry production.

In comparison with other counties in Pennsylvania the county is first in apple production, first in cherry production, second in peaches, fifth in mules, seventh in wheat, seventh in chickens, eighth in both barley and wine production, ninth in eggs and tenth in corn production.

During the years since 1939 the county has increased tremendously its production of canning crops, principally because the facilities of the county's canning companies have been able to take care of the increased acreage.

In 1939 there were 3,000 acres in the county devoted to the production of snapbeans, sweet corn, peas and tomatoes, the four principal canning vegetable crops. By the end of last year the number of acres devoted to such production had increased to 9,000 of which 1,900 acres were in snap beans and 3,000 acres in tomatoes, crops which demand a great deal of hand labor, Hartman added.

"Golden Opportunity"

In regard to the farm labor situation in 1946, Mr. Hartman refused to make a definite statement saying, "We're looking at the situation through smoked glasses at present—and we just do not know."

He urged the farmers to adopt more efficient methods of production, so that "the cost of the product will in effect be lowered, and we can make a profit even though prices of equipment go up and prices of our products come down. That means simply more production per acre."

He also urged the group to "take a far more active part in the school, church and other activities of your communities and in the promotion of activities for our county's youth to encourage them, both boys and girls, to see the golden opportunity of farming as a way of life."

Guardsmen Shown

Members of the Adams county troop of the State Guard were shown a training film on map making at Glatfelter hall on the Gettysburg college campus during their weekly meeting Thursday evening and were given instructions in target shooting from the standing position. The film was shown and the marksmanship instructions were given by Sgt. Raymond Strohm of the college ROTC staff.

The guardsmen also received instruction in interior guard duty at the state armory here. They will go on the rifle range at the college again next Thursday evening. Sixty-eight of the 70 members of the troop were present.

Townfolks Asked To House
50 War Veterans, Students

Gettysburg college has been forced to make another appeal in behalf of fifty World War II veterans who are scheduled to come here March 25 to continue their higher education.

Jammed to capacity in every available sleeping quarter on the campus and in some private homes with approximately 650 students, some 200 of which are veterans, the college has been asked by the government to accept 50 more at the end of this month, bringing the enrollment to approximately 700, the highest in the history of the college.

However, the monumental task confronting college authorities is finding adequate sleeping quarters for the fifty more ex-servicemen who will be here in less than three weeks.

The college is appealing to local residents to help house these men. The college will furnish single beds and veterans will furnish their own bed clothing; householders are asked to furnish the rooms.

Those who can find room to accommodate one or more veterans are asked to communicate with Dean W. E. Thiberg, at 86-X from 9 a. m. to noon and from 2 to 3 p. m.

COLLEGE WILL PRESENT MUSIC
COURSE IN FALL

A music department at Gettysburg college, authorized last fall by the board of trustees, will take its place in the college curriculum with the opening of the fall semester this year, according to tentative plans announced by Parker B. Wagnild, who will head the new department.

Professor Wagnild spent last summer and the first semester of the current term studying at New York university and Columbia university for the opening of the music department. He was the organizer of the college choir ten years ago and has been its director since its inception.

According to present plans, two courses will be added to the curriculum at the beginning of the fall semester, with the possibility of a third being given. Three-hour courses in elementary harmony and music dictation have been arranged and a course in sight singing may be added. A course in choral conducting is also a possibility.

Dr. Shaffer To Assist

Dr. W. Frederick Shaffer, professor of Greek, has been conducting courses in music appreciation, included under the fine arts department. Dr. Shaffer will assist Professor Wagnild. The college band and orchestra will return with the advent of the music department. Charles Rogers, who directed these organizations prior to the suspension of their activities at the beginning of the war, has been re-engaged as instructor. He is a graduate of Peabody conservatory, Baltimore, where he specialized in instrumental work.

The band will number between 40 and 45 pieces, and will play at all home football and basketball games. If transportation facilities permit, it may make some trips with the teams. The orchestra will give several concerts during the school year and will play for various college functions.

Seek $50,000 Fund

Last fall the Woman's League of Gettysburg college instituted a campaign to raise $50,000 with which to help inaugurate the new music department. A considerable amount of this total has been received. With sufficient funds it is hoped at some future time to provide a building on the campus to house the music department and modern facilities, such as "practice rooms, pianos, a practice organ and recital hall."

The ultimate purpose of the new department, according to Professor Wagnild, is threefold. It aims "to give students an opportunity to major in music and receive a bachelor of arts degree; to give students an opportunity to major and be gainfully employed as music instructors; and to provide an opportunity for students in other departments to elect courses in music."

Although this cannot be accomplished immediately because facilities necessary for such a program are not available, the administration hopes that the full program may be instituted in the near future.

SWISS WOMEN DO NOT CARE FOR SUFFRAGE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP WORLD TRAVELER

Bern, Switzerland, March 8.—You certainly learn a lot about the feminine mind by a visit to Switzerland.

This country doesn't allow women to vote, but when you investigate the question you encounter the strange circumstance that the ladies in general don't appear to be over-anxious for suffrage in political affairs, although most of them would like a hand in settling social problems.

Many of the real crusaders for complete voting rights are among the elderly women, who were active in the days when the militant suffragettes were a world phenomenon. Curiously enough, the younger generation, broadly speaking, would be content with partial suffrage, at least for the present.

The average Swiss woman is essentially a housewife and has the old-fashioned notion that the woman's place is in the home, studying the welfare of the family. Also Swiss politics are complicated and demand more of the voters' time than most housewives feel they can spare from their home duties.

Politics Is Duty
There are few countries where citizens participate so intimately in the affairs of state as here in little Switzerland. The Swiss looks on this participation not as a "right" but as a "duty," with the result that he is constantly engaged in settling the problems of his community or the country as a whole.

To illustrate, take the city of Bern, whose government is 800 years old. Most local laws go directly to the voters, who are called up about once a month to deal with them. In some places the citizens even elect the school teachers by direct vote. The Geneva Canton Council a few years ago passed a law abolishing taxes for people of the lower and middle classes and putting the whole burden on the rich. In Geneva all tax measures must be submitted to the voters as a whole, and in this case they turned down the law as being unfair even though the majority would benefit by it.

Show of Hands Vote
Three Alpine cantons still have the old form of democracy which they have practiced for over 600 years. All the peasants get together in April with a lot of pageantry and, after debate, vote on the business of the canton. They stand in a big circle—maybe 5,000 or 6,000 men and vote by a show of hands. If the presiding official can't determine the vote in this way the circle separates into two opposing bodies and there is a count of noses. Everybody turns out for this town meeting, that is all the voters, but the chances are that somebody has to stay home—and that will be mother.

The average woman doesn't feel that she has the time to go to innumerable communal meetings and debate political issues, or yet stand in circles and vote. However, she would like to vote for the teachers who are to instruct her children, and to vote for anything else relating directly to the welfare of the family. Beyond that the Swiss woman is a home body.

LEGION WOMEN MEET THURSDAY

Ten officers and members of the Auxiliary of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 of the American Legion were among 70 women attending the regular meeting and luncheon of the four-county council of the Auxiliary Thursday in the YWCA building in Hanover. The executive committee met at 10:30 and the general session convened at 11 a. m.

The women adopted a resolution favoring universal military training and directed that a copy be sent to Congressman Chester Gross of this district. A $25 contribution was voted to the greenhouse project for Valley Forge hospital.

Mrs. Myron Bowers, Chambersburg, department chairman of national defense, reported on a national defense conference she attended in Washington in January and Mrs. John Woodcock, St. Thomas, district director, told of the national Auxiliary convention in Chicago. Reports were given by Mrs. Howard Hartzell as sub-chairman of rehabilitation; Mrs. Paul Spangler as sub-chairman of child welfare, and by representatives of the various auxiliaries on unit activities.

Members of the Gettysburg unit in attendance were: Mrs. Emma Sheffer, Mrs. Howard Hartzell, Mrs. Paul Spangler, Mrs. Morris Gittlin, Mrs. Erle Deardoff, Mrs. Frank Deardoff, Mrs. Edward Snyder, Mrs. Roy Maxwell, Mrs. Roy Bollinger and Mrs. William Pensyl.

MADRID RADIO SAYS NATIONS INCITING WAR

London, March 8 (AP)—The Madrid radio, continuing its counter-offensive against the anti-Franco campaign abroad, declared that the United States, Britain and France today are inciting another civil war in Spain.

"These governments which so generously express their hope that Spain may not again be subjected to the horrors of civil war implicitly incite us to civil strife by their note which craftily provokes this warfare by deceptions for which there is no place in Spain," the radio, quoting the Madrid newspaper ABC, said last night.

"It is not we, but a million dead x x x who raise an impassable barrier against the handing over of power to the Judases and Cains whose only methods are treason and slander."

"Lies and Calumnies"
The note referred to was a tri-power condemnation of the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, who yesterday attacked Russia in an impromptu speech in Madrid and commented that "the causes which had been reasons of the civil war must disappear for always."

Last night's broadcast said the three nations were "doing exactly the contrary of what they proclaim is their purpose" in the note.

In another broadcast, the Madrid radio accused the three powers of "fickleness" in not publicizing evidence of Russian-German collaboration before 1941 while publishing condemnations of Spain, and added: "This abominable offensive, and campaign of lies and calumnies, has been worked up to conceal at the expense of Spain's hard-won peace the criminal expansion of Soviet imperialism."

terrogate the man. The transient, who gave his name as Robert Shadwick, according to Staley "drew his arm back to launch a haymaker" at the local officer. Staley "closed with him" and with the assistance of a local taxi driver, subdued Shadwick and took him to the county jail where he is being held today for investigation.

The college student incident occurred a little earlier in the evening at a local restaurant. According to Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster a discharged veteran was displaying a souvenir box to a group of friends. Harpster said today that two groups of college boys were seated at other tables in the restaurant and that one member of the group approached Smith and asked to see the box.

Arrest May Follow
After borrowing the box the student went outside the restaurant, Harpster said, and when the veteran asked for the box the student "refused to return it." When Smith attempted to take the box the college students were said by Harpster to have "ganged upon him" and one of them said "the police light is on" and the group ran off down Carlisle street. By the time police arrived, Harpster said, all were out of sight.

Chief Harpster said this morning that the name of the youth who took the box is known and that if he does not return it by Monday a warrant charging larceny will be sworn out and the student arrested.

Borough police also answered a call from Mrs. Blanche Goodermuth, West Middle street. As a result, her husband, Lester Goodermuth, South Washington street, from whom she is separated, went to jail about 9 p. m. and then appeared before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder to pay a fine of $5 and costs after pleading guilty to a disorderly conduct charge.

BRINGING HOME THE BACON

Hastings, Nebr., March 8 (AP)—Mrs. C. C. Harrison of Los Angeles, who says her family's supply of bacon in the last three years was two pounds, wrote Butcher Karl Kauf and asked if she could purchase the 10 pounds of bacon one of Kauf's customers had rejected. The customer, who during the war would joshingly order 10 pounds of bacon, recently had his order accepted by Kauf, but he turned it down.

Kauf said he sent the slab to Mrs. Harrison as a gift.

Pay Raise For Philly Municipal Employees

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—City council approved a pay increase of not more than $400 a year for each municipal worker yesterday and backed a 48-hour week for firemen.

The council, in a unanimously-adopted resolution, charged its finance committee with studying plans for new tax legislation to meet the cost of the two proposals which may be as much as $10,000,000 a year.

A suggested three-platoon system in the fire bureau will cut the work week of firemen from 72 to 48 hours.

CAMP HILL AND GREENCASTLE TO CLASH HERE

Local cage fans will have an opportunity to witness a third scholastic basketball playoff Saturday evening when Camp Hill and Greencastle high schools clash in a quarter-final Class B District 3 PIAA game on the Gettysburg college floor at 8 o'clock.

Camp Hill, for the last two years the District 3 champion, is favored by many to cop its third straight title. Greencastle is figured to give Camp Hill its strongest opposition.

Bernie Thrush, former Bigliver high school coach, is pilot of the Camp Hill outfit. Coach Thrush has moulded together a classy outfit and boasts two star performers in Jack Silke and Gene Boose, forwards.

Win On Wednesday

Camp Hill qualified to meet Greencastle by losing Hallam in a one-sided affair at York Wednesday evening 41-22.

On the same evening Greencastle eliminated East Berlin from district play with a 45-30 decision on the Gettysburg high floor.

Greencastle impressed local fans with its smooth ball handling. Made up mostly of seniors who have played together for several seasons, the Franklin county league champions presented a comparatively tall aggregation that should prove troublesome to any opponent.

Saturday's meeting will be the third between the two schools in district playoffs: In 1944 and again last year Camp Hill eliminated Greencastle in playoffs.

Starting Lineups

Lineups for the teams will probably be as follows:

Camp Hill—Silke and Boose, forwards; Denison, center; White and Butler, guards.

Greencastle—Rowe and Shank, forwards; Gaddis, center, and Brant and Peck, guards.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, March 8 (AP)—George Eastman, who moved up from high school coaching ranks to take charge of the Manhattan track squad this winter, says he has been trying all season to find out how fast Fred Sicking can run. . . . Eastman probably won't find out tomorrow because Sicking figures to beat Stan Callender by the usual two strides in the K. of C. 1,000-yard race. . . . But by next winter, Fred may be ready to give Les McCormick a tussle over the mile race. . . . The coach figures Fred "can run anything from 600 yards to the mile in championship time."

JERSEY JUSTICE

Jersey Jones, the reformed fight publisher, takes issue with Jersey Joe Walcott's story about flooring Joe Louis in training camp brawls. . . . "In the interests of truth (in news, editorials and advertisements)," reports J. Jones, who handled the press setup at Louis' camp, "it wasn't at Pompton Lakes but at Lakewood back in 1936. The first day Walcott ran backwards faster than Man O' War ever ran forward and Louis couldn't catch him in one round. The second day Louis didn't waste time. There were two thunderous detonations, the first when Louis nailed Walcott on the chin, the second when Jersey Joe hit the deck."

CLEANING THE CUFF

Report from Camp Lejeune, N. C., says the crack marine basketball team there will enter Notre Dame as a unit next fall. It's led by former Notre Damer John Kelly, who scored 639 points in 35 games. . . . Fred Breakie, Sr., and Scotty Morgan have been foul line judges at Detroit bowling establishments for a total of 61 years. By now they should be experts on foul play.

TOUGH GOING FOR FAVORITES

Miami, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Three of the four seeded teams in Miami's $7,500 international four-ball golf tournament survived yesterday's 36-hole round, but the opposition against the "favored" may prove the most rugged of all today.

The "gold dust" twins, Byron Nelson, of Toledo, Ohio, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Sanford, Me., whose first appearance was anything but brilliant, today faced a couple of west coast boys, Lawson Little, of San Francisco, and Lloyd Mangrum, of Los Angeles.

Mangrum has been playing some of his best golf in recent weeks and is proving an excellent teammate for Little, who made the headlines a few years back.

Nelson and McSpaden survived by defeating Willie Klein of Miami Beach and Willie Goggin, of White Plains, N. Y., 2 and 1, while Little and Mangrum won a 1-up from Leonard Dodson, of Kansas City, and Jim Ferrier, of Chicago.

Sam Snead, the ex-navy gob of Virginia, proved the hottest golfer in the tournament, and with Sammy Byrd of Detroit the former baseball player, the team to beat.

Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, March 8 (AP)—Robert Walker, a contentious character, says at last he is getting a chance to act.

"So far I have been playing naive boys," he told me in the abandoned MGM commissary. He contended he is neither a boy (he is 27), nor naive (he didn't explain this).

The Salt Lake City actor said his first chance to escape the pee-whiz role of role is in "Till the Clouds Roll By," the Jerome Kern biography on which Metro is lavishing most of its talent and a sizable chunk of dough. Walker is playing the late composer and he says it is a challenge to his acting ability.

"Most of the picture portrays Kern in middle age," he said. "Any actor will tell you it is easy to play youth or old age, but middle-age is tough."

Not that he is attempting to duplicate Kern.

"If I tried that, I'd have to play the role on my knees," said the tall actor. "I'm just trying to catch the spirit of the great composer."

On another occasion, Bob complained to me about fan magazine stories which described him as just a naive and homey as the roles he has played. "Nuts," he said. "I have become selfish and money-conscious."

Careful, Robert. You're liable to get a reputation for being honest.

SEVEN TEAMS JOIN COUNTY BALL CIRCUIT

Adams county baseball fans were assured of a sports program for the coming summer when the formation of an Adams County league was effected at a meeting of approximately 40 fans and players Thursday evening at the fire engine house.

Seven communities, Orrtanna, Fairfield, Emmitsburg, Littlestown, Bendersville, Bonneauville and Ardentown, were represented and joined the loop. Gettysburg was not represented and it appears unlikely that a local team will be entered in the circuit.

The following officers were elected: President, B. E. Benner, Fairfield; vice president, Roy Shenebrook, Bonneauville, and secretary-treasurer, Frank Mummert, Littlestown.

An effort will be made to have at least one more team join the loop but three teams will be welcomed. It has been learned that York Springs and McSherrystown, both of whom were not represented at the meeting, are desirous of joining.

Another meeting of the league officials will be held at the engine house next Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Teams are asked to be prepared to post their forfeit money at that time.

SEE PIRATES IN FIRST DIVISION

By BILL BECKER

San Bernardino, Calif., March 8 (AP)—Always a bridesmaid and never a bride may be the continuing story of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1946.

Under the guidance of Frankie Frisch, beginning his seventh year as Pittsburgh manager, the Bucs have been consistent first division finishers, but always shy of the top in the National league.

There appears to be talent enough in the Pirate camp to repeat last year's fourth-place finish. But there's also doubt that the Frischmen will climb higher.

Uncertainty about second and third base clouds the Pittsburgh picture. The holdout by Frankie Gustine, who played every infield post but first for the Bucs, complicates matters even more. Gustine was slated for third.

At present, incumbent Lee Handley has the inside track at third. Two ex-St. Louis Cards, Jimmy Brown and Burgess Whitehead, are battling for second. Elbie Fletcher, back from the navy, seems set at first, which means well-traveled Babe Dahlgren, who filled Fletcher's shoes during wartime may be on the move again.

Training Camp Briefs

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 8 (AP)—

George "Snuffy" Starnweiss, a hold-out until he gained a two-year contract, is playing third for the New York Yankees with the same zip and dash he showed at second base last year. Manager Joe McCarthy has expressed his satisfaction.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 8 (AP)—

Rumors circulated in the Phillies camp today that a "hot" trade is cooking with the Cincinnati Reds. Reports say the Phils want catcher Ray Lamanno with the Reds seeking an outfielder.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 8 (AP)—

Rookie pitcher Bill McCahan and veteran twirler Jack Knott of the Philadelphia A's won praise from manager Connie Mack. "They showed us the best pitching we have seen so far," he said.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 8 (AP)—

Outfielder Dixie Walker has ended his Brooklyn Dodger holdout and will report here Sunday. Still unsigned are outfielder Pete Reiser and pitchers Ralph Branca and Joe Hatten.

Havana, Cuba, March 8 (AP)—

Griffith will be honored Sunday in "Clark Griffith Day" ceremonies during which he will receive a gold medal "in recognition of his work on behalf of Cuban athletes."

Strenuous Training Starts For Joe Louis

West Baden, Ind., March 8 (AP)—

A four-year period away from strenuous training for ring warfare ended today for Joe Louis.

The world's heavyweight boxing champion launched a 49-day tuning up program at this village spa in the first phase of his conditioning in preparation for the defense of his title against challenger Billy Conn in New York's Yankee Stadium June 19.

The second phase begins May 1 at Pompton Lakes, N. J., when he starts his boxing drills.

Louis, who will be 32 years old on May 13, weighs 220 pounds, 13 above his fighting weight. He plans to melt off this excess by walking and jogging over the hilly countryside for an hour each morning, engage in other outdoor exercises in the afternoon and eat only two meals daily. He also will play golf and ride horseback.

24 "Starters" For Santa Anita Handicap

Aradita, Calif., March 8 (AP)—

One of the greatest stampedes since Sitting Bull's charge is tabbed for tomorrow's $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

No less than 24 horses were being mentioned as certain starters as trainers went to the entry box today. Unless owners suddenly become wary of putting their money alongside their words, the record of 20 in the 1935 Cap appears a cinch to be beaten. It costs $500 to enter and $500 more to start a steed. Charles H. Strube, executive vice-president of the track, said that "the field will not be split even if 50 horses go to the post and they have to line up behind each other."

The tremendous field, from all appearances, will have to break the old-fashioned web barrier. The track accommodates starting gate stalls for only 22.

BALLES, WIFE ARE CONVICTED ON 15 COUNTS

Norristown, Pa., March 8 (AP)—The headmaster of a private co-educational military school and his 37-year-old wife, accused of indecencies by a score of their teen-age girl and boy pupils, were found guilty of 15 morals charges.

George W. Balles, Jr., 33, founder of the Warminster academy at nearby Three Tuns, was convicted yesterday by a jury of ten women and two men on 10 counts, including charges of statutory assault, disrupting public morals, contributing to the delinquency of minors and adultery.

His wife, Laura, a registered nurse and mother of a five-year-old girl, was convicted on five counts of contributing to the delinquency of minors, aiding and abetting statutory assault, corrupting public morals and assault.

Both had denied the charges on the witness stand, calling the children who accused them "liars."

"They can't do this to me," Mrs. Balles screamed in Montgomery county courtroom after the verdict was announced. "I am not guilty."

Balles leaned over and kissed his wife. "She didn't do anything," he said. "she didn't do anything."

Judge Harold G. Knight announced he would delay sentencing until March 15 to give defense attorneys ample time to file motions for a new trial.

Balles, specifically accused by two girls—one 11, the other 14—of attacking them, faces a maximum jail term of 46 years and a fine of $19,500. His wife is liable to 21 years and a $10,000 fine.

Other members of the committee were Dr. Robert A. Bream and Clayton S. Starnner.

Other Resolutions

A county-wide meeting of representatives from every organization and group in the county will be held later this month according to plans announced earlier this week by the Adams County Welfare Council.

Other resolutions adopted by the cooperative Thursday included a commendation to the librarian and board of directors of the Adams County Free Library "for the prompt and efficient manner in which they have established library service to the outlying sections of the county."

The members also "endorsed the expansion of this cooperative association to include the handling of petroleum products." A fourth resolution urged "that each member and officer continue alert to the agitation against cooperatives being exerted by a private pressure group calling themselves the National Tax Equality Association, and that every member stand ready to communicate with his congressman in the interests of retaining the legislation under which cooperatives now legally operate."

WINNIE SEEKS STRONG UNITY

By ALEX SINGLETON

Richmond, Va., March 8 (AP)—Winston Churchill again called upon the people of his homeland and of the United States today to stand together "in defense of those causes we hold dear."

Here in the birthplace of a country which rebelled against England's rule, the war time British Prime Minister told a joint session of the Virginia Legislature that "above all, among the English-speaking peoples, there must be the union of hearts based upon convictions and common ideals."

"That," he asserted, "is what I offer. That is what I want."

Not once in his prepared address did he mention either Russia or Communism. Nor did he refer directly to his appeal in Fulton, Mo., only three days ago, for creation of a strong Anglo-American military alliance.

"Stand Together"

Yet, indirectly, this was the theme of his address to Virginia's lawmakers.

"In these last years of my life," Churchill said, "there is a message of which I conceive myself to be a bearer."

"It is," he said, "that we should stand together."

"We should stand together in malice to none, in greed for nothing, but in defense of those causes which we hold dear not only for our own benefit, but because we believe they mean the honor and the happiness of long generations of men."

Then he declared—even as he told Congress in Britain's darkest hour during the wartime disasters of 1941—that:

"We ought to walk together in majesty and peace."

MILLAND AND CRAWFORD ARE 'OSCAR' WINNERS

By FRANKLIN K. ARTHUR

Hollywood, March 8 (AP)—Ray Milland lost a week-end. And Joan Crawford lost the biggest evening of her life. But both won Oscars in the process.

They were the recipients last night of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' awards for the best performances of an actor and actress in 1945. The scene was Grauman's Chinese theater, the audience 2,100 high stiff shirts and low evening gowns, garbling Hollywood's elite. Thousands of others jammed the boulevard outside.

But the real drama took place eight miles away, in a Brentwood bedroom. There Miss Crawford, whose unsung aid to the forgotten and needy of film had made her a solidly popular character in a make-believe world, danced around a sickbed.

"My Tears Speak"

An attack of influenza had robbed her of the moment of glory of which every actress dreams—stepping up to receive her Oscar. But friends, headed by Director Mike Curtiz who accepted the award in her behalf at the theater, decided that even a temperature of 102 shouldn't cost her all of the thrill that goes with winning the highest honor Hollywood's thousands of workers—from grips to executive producers—can bestow.

So they went to her rambling Brentwood home and there, while Joan sniffled and cried, handed her the statuette.

"Usually," she choked, a little ruefully, "I'm ready with the wisecracks. But I can't say anything. My tears speak for me."

She won the award for her dramatic portrayal of the spurned mother in "Mildred Pierce." It was the best part the former Kansas City store clerk had been given in her 20 years on the screen.

The 18th announcement party was a night for veterans. Milland, Welsh-born, has been in Hollywood 13 years. And his performance as the pitiful drunk of "The Lost Week-End," sparked that picture to one of the greatest sweeps since "It Happened One Night" hit the screen in 1934.

For Paramount, "Week-End" won the selection as the best picture. For Billy Wilder it won the directorial award and a share of the palm for the best written screenplay with Charles Brackett.

Pick Child Actress

Other major awards went to James Dunn for his superb job as the father in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn"—also a drunken role—and to the one comparative newcomer to films, Anne Revere—who also played a mother—in "National Velvet."

They were chosen for the best supporting performances of the year.

To Peggy Ann Garner went a special award as the most promising child actress. The song-writing fame of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II was enhanced by selection of their "It Might As Well Be Spring" as the best original song.

For black and white photography, Harry Stradling was named for "The Picture of Dorian Gray." Color honors in the same category went to Leon Shamroy for "Leave Her to Heaven."

Writing awards, beside the Wilder-Brackett combination on "Week-End," were gathered in by Richard Schweizer, whose "Marie-Louise" was chosen the best original screenplay and Charles G. Booth for "The House On 92nd Street"—best original motion picture story.

DEBATERS ON EASTERN TRIP

H. George Hanawalt, Paul P. Kramp, Edward K. Perry, and Robert J. Rubin are representing the Gettysburg college varsity debate squad in a series of debates now being staged in and around New York City.

There debates began Wednesday and will continue through Saturday. Schools against which the team is debating are New York university, City College of New York, Columbia university, Brooklyn college, Rutgers university, Princeton university, and Rider college.

Two questions based on current affairs form the basis of the arguments. The resolutions are, Resolved: That the foreign policy of the United States should be directed toward the establishment of free trade among the nations of the world; and, Resolved: That the Congress of the United States should establish universal compulsory military training.

Free trade will be the subject of debates to be held at Shippensburg State Teachers' college on March 13 and at Dickinson college on March 15. Both the men and women debaters will be represented at these meetings.

Squads representing both teams will be sent to the debater's convention to be held at Penn State on March 21, 22, and 23. Lucille A. Birnbaum, Dorothy A. Garis, Marilyn E. Senior, and Eleanor D. Sultzbach will debate the question of the postwar economic policy of the United States. Representatives of the men's team will be chosen later.

Littlestown Supplement Makes Its Debut Today

Blue Ridge Rubber Company Expanding At Accelerated Pace To Leader In Field

A Littlestown industry which turned its facilities and manpower almost exclusively, during the war, to the manufacture of products for use by the armed forces of this country, is back again to peacetime production, and is expanding at a rate which already makes it one of the leaders, in its line, in the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

From the Littlestown plant of the Blue Ridge and Carroll Shoe companies go forth daily shipments of between 3,200 and 3,600 pairs of shoes to all parts of the United States, and to several foreign countries. Before the war the plant was turning out between 900 and 1,000 pairs of shoes each day. It is now heading toward a production of 6,000 daily, and has an objective of 8,000 pairs.

Is Major Industry

The plant is Littlestown's largest industry and a major economic force in this community. Approximately 400 persons are employed in the plant at the present time. New production, assembly, inspection and shipping department lines soon to be in operation will boost both production and employment.

The expansion of these firms has included also the opening of a new plant at Arendtsville, employing at the present time 40 workers. Within a short time it is expected that the Arendtsville plant will employ from 75 to 100. This branch of the Littlestown factory stitches the tops for many of the shoes produced at Littlestown. When anticipated production is reached, 2,400 pairs will be stitched daily.

Further Expansion

Further expansion is being planned Ernest W. Dunbar, Vice-President of the Cambridge Company, announced. Robert J. Kenworthy, who resides at 41 East Broadway, Gettysburg, is the manager of the Littlestown plant and in charge of the Arendtsville factory. Both the Littlestown and Arendtsville factories are currently accepting applications for new workers, both skilled and unskilled, in line with their program for doubling present shoe production.

The Blue Ridge and Carroll Shoe companies are subsidiaries of the Cambridge Rubber company of Cambridge, Mass. The parent organization is an old-line firm, founded in 1914, and of which Warren MacPherson, Cambridge, is president. Its standard products are winter rubber footwear and men's and women's sandal footwear.

Plant Is Burned

The first Blue Ridge plant was started in Taneytown in 1936. It employed 200 persons. By 1942 this employment figure had been built up to 1,140, but in April of that year a disastrous fire wiped out the entire plant, and the Littlestown factory was opened in June, 1942.

During the war the Taneytown plant was rebuilt, and was re-opened in the middle of 1944. Its manager is George P. Smith. Mr. Dunbar, vice president of the company, also makes his headquarters at Taneytown. The Taneytown plant payroll now contains 450 names. Between 4,000 and 4,100 pairs of rubbers and overshoes are produced at the plant daily.

The company also makes a type of sole for shoes under the trade name "Vul-Cork." Production on Vul-Cork was begun just prior to the war. Since the cessation of hostilities, production has been resumed. The product is sold to the shoe manufacturing trade. Edward T. Richardson is sales manager for the Vul-Cork product.

The Cambridge company operates the General Latex plant at Cambridge, Mass., and the Cambridge Rubber company, Ltd., at St. Remi, Quebec.

The Littlestown factory consists of three large buildings, which provide 67,000 square feet of floor space. LeRoy Wantz is superintendent of the Littlestown plant, and Cecil Boyd superintendent at Arendtsville.

Pastor Endorses Supplement

"The Gettysburg Times deserves great commendation for adding this weekly 'Littlestown Supplement'."

"Littlestown is the second largest borough in Adams county and is a rapidly growing community. Our industries are diversified. They rendered a great contribution to 'the war effort' and are now forging ahead with a 'peace-time' program giving steady employment not only to the people of Littlestown and Adams county but to many neighboring communities as well.

"We are, likewise, a community of well established churches, some of which had their origin before the American Revolution. This is an evidence that from the very beginning of our life as a nation, Littlestown was concerned about the development of the moral and spiritual life of her citizens.

"We are also greatly concerned with the education of our young people. Each year a number of our boys and girls enter the higher institutions of learning to prepare themselves to become leaders, not only in our community, but also in the world.

"Our possibilities are not only in the past, but there is a great future ahead. Ever since becoming a resident of Adams county, I have felt that Littlestown was in need of more newspaper publicity. I believe that this supplement will supply that need. I congratulate The Times for their foresight and I sincerely hope that our citizens will make it possible for this supplement to be continued.

"Sincerely yours,

"REV. JOHN C. BRUMBACH, Pastor, Christ Reformed Church, Littlestown, and St. Luke's Reformed Church, White Hall."

LITTLESTOWN'S FIRMS EMPLOY NEARLY 1300

More than 1,300 persons are employed in the industries at Littlestown where a dozen large concerns turn out products that range from infants' shoes to large built-in kitchen cabinets.

During the season when the canneries are in full swing the number of workers in the town's industries nears the 1,800 mark, but a good year around average, according to a survey completed by The Gettysburg Times is 1,310.

Largest concerns in the town are the Blue Ridge Rubber-Carroll Shoe Company, manufacturers of Cambridge men's and women's sandal footwear and the Windsor Shoe company, which makes the A. S. Beck ladies' shoes, each of which employ 400 men and women.

Other large concerns include the Strouse-Baer company which makes the Jack Tar Togs, and which employs 62 persons in the making of boys' suits.

2 Canning Firms

The Littleton Shoe Company produces "Little Imp" infants' flat-soled and first step shoes with a total of 55 employees.

Two canning concerns employ large numbers of people during the summer months, but have only a maintenance crew at work during the winter.

The B. F. Shriyer company, canners of fresh vegetables including peas, corn and tomato juice at the Littlestown plant produce a number of brands, including "Shriyer's A No. 1," "Blue Ridge," "World's Favorite," "Lady Host" and "New Windsor." The company, with plants at Westminster and New Windsor, in addition to Littlestown, is also one of the largest "farmers" in this section of the country. Two World War II veterans, both with several years pre-war service in the armed forces, recently opened a new pressing and cleaning establishment in Littlestown.

Fred Sentz, son of Luther A. Sentz, and Tom Maitland, son of George L. Maitland, who recently took over the cleaning and pressing business in the Mathias building, have 15 years of service with the armed forces between them. Sentz was discharged October 18 after seven years' service and Maitland was discharged December 10 after eight years of service. They also run their own dry cleaning establishment.

SEWER SYSTEM HUGE TASK IN LITTLESTOWN

Littlestown borough officials are hopeful of soon resuming work on the sewer system for the town—a system that was started in 1941 and was eight per cent completed when the WPA project under which it was being built became a war casualty in 1943.

Borough officials pointed out today that practically all of the pipe that will be needed for the project has been purchased and that the sewer disposal plant is about two-thirds built.

But the project, to be completed, will cost an additional $225,000 to $250,000 according to word received by the borough from Albright and Friel, incorporated, Philadelphia contractors who put in the first part of the sewer system under the federal aid program and which will probably be called upon to finish the work.

What manner the borough will employ to raise the money necessary for the completion of the waste disposal system was not yet clear even to the town's authorities who during the past two weeks have been busily engaged in searching for methods to complete the work. A bond issue will probably be the answer they said, but what type of bonds, who shall be the issuing authority and other details are still matters that have to be settled.

Started In 1941

The town's sewer project began in 1941 with the establishment of a sewer authority board headed by Arthur E. Bair, local banker. The authority under the regulations then floated an $85,000 bond issue to defray the expenses to be paid locally in the construction under the WPA program. Borough Secretary Rodger J. Keefe said. Keefe added that one man, H. D. Sheppard, of Hanover, purchased the entire bond issue.

By setting up the authority board for the sewer the borough did not go into debt by the amount but would have leased the sewer from the authority after it was completed, Secretary Keefe pointed out.

Mr. Bair, as head of the sewer authority has been among those who have been working to find a way to get the job done—without WPA.

Officials Confident

There seems little doubt, at least in the minds of borough officials, Keefe added, that the borough could raise the necessary funds and pay for the sewer system provided legal means can be found to do so.

In 1897 the town built its own water system. Since that time the water system has put in some seven miles of pipe and has a profit of over $18,000 at the present date, according to the borough's annual financial statement. The water fund balance as of December 31, 1945, was $12,100.03 and in addition the water fund owns $6,000 worth of U. S. government bonds. Then, too, (Continued on Page 2)

Second Largest Town In Adams County Has Adopted Daily Times

Littlestown, second largest community in Adams county, first county in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a community of diversified industries and interests, moving progressively forward in many fields of endeavor, will henceforth have its own newspaper, a weekly Littlestown supplement of The Gettysburg Times.

This is the first edition. It will be published regularly each Friday afternoon.

In addition there will be a special Littlestown column in the daily edition of The Times written by P. Emory "Pat" Weaver, Littlestown correspondent of The Times. It will be jam-packed with all the current news of the Littlestown community.

Town Laid Out In 1765

One hundred and forty-six years ago, Littlestown, then called Petersburg, had a population of approximately 250 inhabitants. Today it boasts of more than 2,500 and it has grown tremendously from its original 48 lots when it was first laid out in 1765.

The founder of "Kleina Stedtle," another name for Littlestown before it was called Petersburg, was Peter Klein who died in 1773. The two leading streets at that time, as well as now, were King and Queen streets.

The original lot owners and builders were Peter Cushman, Matthias Baker, Stephen Geiss, Henry Brothers, R. McHenry, Jacob Gray, John Alspach, Michael Reed, Peter Baker, D. Zachery, the Wills, Sells, Hostetters, Stahles, Crouses, Longs, Dysarts, Littles and the Kuntz family, with others whose names appear in the original assessment of the township. About the time the railroad was completed, the Renshaw and Myers addition to the village was plotted, new warehouses, stores and residences were erected, and by 1865 the old village was almost thoroughly modernized.

W. F. Crouse First Burgess

The borough of Littlestown was incorporated in 1864 and at the first elections held in August of that year W. F. Crouse was elected burgess. Councilmen were Noah J. Wickert, John Spangler, David Schwartz, George Stonesifer and Dr. J. S. Kemp.

R. S. Seiss was elected burgess in 1865 and again in 1866. After that he returned to the same office in 1872 and 1873, 1880, 1881, 1883, and again in 1885. During his first administration the borough had the streets graded and made other improvements.

Iron ore was uncovered on farms near Littlestown in 1867 and the mines were worked by the Wrightsville and the Ashland Mining companies.

On Railroad And Turnpike

The Littlestown Branch railroad was opened for traffic July 1, 1858. It cost about $75,000 according to the report of President William McSherry. It was extended to Frederiek, Md., in 1871 and in 1874 the entire "short line" was leased to the Pennsylvania company.

The Gettysburg-Littlestown turnpike was built in 1809 and over its route old Conestoga stagecoaches carried passengers, freight, money, food and produce to Baltimore and other cities in the east.

Littlestown was a stagecoach stop. It was a popular rendezvous for those who drove the four-horse teams that tugged heavy cargoes over deep-rutted roads. It was the "last stop" in Pennsylvania before the travelers moved into Maryland.

Many Churches Founded

As the years rolled by the borough progressed with the ever-changing times, slowly at first, but in stride with the advance of culture, and civilization and industry.

Churches, of course, moved in increasing tempo and long before the borough was founded there were churches scattered throughout the vicinity. As the population increased, more churches were built and congregations increased in membership. Throughout all these years Littlestown has enjoyed an enviable reputation as a Christian community.

There are six churches in Littlestown today. They are, with their present pastors, the following:

St. Aloysius Catholic church, South Queen street, Rev. Fr. John H. Weber.

Methodist, 56 East King street, Rev. Robert H. Sheehan. St. John's Lutheran, 129 West King street, Rev. Kenneth D. James.

Christ Reformed, 323 East King street, Rev. John C. Brumbach.

St. Paul's Lutheran, 107 West King street, Rev. David S. Kammerer.

Redeemer's Reformed, 103 North Queen street, Rev. Theodore W. Boltz.

Public And Parochial Schools

There are three schools as follows: Littlestown high school, Littlestown grade school and the St. Aloysius parochial school.

There are two progressive banks in the community: The Littlestown National bank, Dr. Howard A. Stonesifer, president; Arthur E. Bair, cashier; Theron W. Spangler, trust officer and assistant cashier; Miss Anna C. Weaver, assistant cashier; Paul E. Lawyer, secretary of the board, and the following directors: President Stonesifer, Secretary Lawyer, and Irvin B. Black, W. H. Dern, H. F. Dodner, Ely C. Dutterer, Leo B. Frommeyer, John H. Marker, Joseph Milson and A. C. Leatherman.

The Littlestown State bank, L. D. Snyder, president; William V. Sneeringer, vice president; Wilbur A. Bankert, treasurer; Evelyn C. Altoff, secretary; Chester S. Byers, assistant treasurer, and Warren C. Harner, assistant treasurer. Directors, in addition to Messrs. Snyder and Sneeringer, include Charles M. Weikert, J. Irvin Dutterer, Edgar W. Berwager, William S. Menges, Harrison F. Snyder, C. P. Myers, and Ralph D. Bowman.

Deposits Mounting

The banks are in a healthy financial condition which creditably reflects the healthy financial condition of the community. Bank deposits, as of the close of business last year, were Littlestown National bank, $3,725,382.55 and the Littlestown State bank, $2,798,282.02.

It cannot be said that newspapers shared in the fortunes and success of the borough.

The first newspaper published in Littlestown, The Weekly Visitor, founded in 1847, is reported to have enjoyed a short-lived financial success. Five other newspapers followed in quick succession only to gradually disappear. Then for a time (Please turn to Page 3)

ST. ALOYSIUS CHURCH PLANS YOUTH CENTER

If present plans materialize the young people of St. Aloysius Catholic parish in Littlestown will have the finest youth center in the county.

The Rev. John Weber, pastor of the church, announced today that he plans, possibly during the coming summer, to renovate the basement of the Littlestown parochial school in order that a center may be established there for the young people and to equip the auditorium of the school for basketball games for teams comprised of the youngsters and young people who are interested in the sport.

Speaking from years of experience, the Littlestown priest asserted that the youth club is "one of the most important things in a parish." At Lancaster he conducted a youth club at his parish for a decade.

Probably the same plan will be followed for the Littlestown youngsters as was followed at Lancaster, Father Weber told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

Parents' Committee
There a parents' committee was set up to generally supervise the center and to provide supervisors for the periods in which it is open. Different programs are conducted so that all ages might use the center from the school youngsters up to the young working members of the parish. Table tennis and other games were installed and a record player was installed for dances. A snack bar sold candy, milk and other edibles and the income from the counter practically supported the club, Father Weber said. In addition nominal dues were charged the members.

Much the same program is being planned for the Littlestown center. The present auditorium supplies a stage and seating places for meetings and stage productions, but if Father Weber's plans are carried out the hall will also be outfitted for basketball games, with teams to be organized among the school youngsters and possibly older youths who have ended their school careers.

Parochial Groups
At present the Catholic hall is used for a number of activities in the Littlestown community. One of the outside organizations that has been an annual user of the auditorium is the B. F. Shriver company which is planning, on March 28, to stage its annual farm meeting there.

The church has a number of organizations active at present. The NCCW, headed by Miss Leona Sanders, is one of the more active women's clubs. The unit meets every third Wednesday of the month. Mrs. Paul Althoff heads the Blessed Virgin Sodality and B. F. Redding is president of the Holy Name society for the parish. R. F. Long is president of the St. Vincent De Paul society and Miss Mary Redding heads the Girl Scouts. A Boy Scout troop in the parish has been very active and at present is seeking a scoutmaster. The St. Aloysius Beneficial Association is another parish organization.

The Littlestown organizations have been active in regional Catholic group activities with the South-Regional Holy Name Society and the Conewago Deanery of the NCCW meeting frequently at Littlestown.

EAGLES PLAN CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HOME

Littlestown's Eagles lodge is planning to construct a new home as soon as materials are available.

President Robert Barnes, in announcing the contemplated project said that the lodge during the past five years has accumulated a surplus of $40,000. Bernard Starr, architect for the new structure, has completed the plans for the building, Mr. Barnes said.

Aerie 2226 will be 10 years old in May, starting out in 1936 with a charter membership of 100. Since that time the number has grown to the present 560 membership of which 27 are still in service. The honor roll of the Eagles at one time contained the names of 109 members. The lodge 10 years ago started without resources and in debt and since that time has paid for its present home besides accumulating the surplus, Barnes added.

The organization, which meets the first and third Thursday of each month has as its present officer: Worthy President, Robert Barnes; Past Worthy President, Bernard Selby; Worthy Vice President P. LeRoy Harner; Secretary, John W. Dutera; Treasurer, Edward G. Loeffel; Trustees, Lewis Clingan, Ivan Rick- rode, and Joseph Selby; Chaplain, Robert Bevenour; Conductor, Edgar A. Wisotzky; Inside Guard, Harman Kaler; Outside Guard, Samuel Smeltzer; Stewards, Charles Randall, William Wilt, and Edwin Ulrich.

Men once were offered grants of land as an inducement to join the U. S. Marine Corps.

SEWER SYSTEM

$1,500 was transferred from the water fund to the general fund of the borough. Actually the water system, owned by the borough, made a total of $5,100.23 during the year. It entered the year with a cash balance of $8,500, according to the auditors' report, received $11,814.46 from water rents and miscellaneous receipts and spent $6,714.23, not counting the $1,500 surplus which was turned over to the general fund as surplus.

Not only in its water system is the borough sound financially. Its current tax duplicate is well over $10,000. The borough wound up with $6,206.20 in the hands of its treasurer last year according to the annual financial report.

Paying Off Debt
And during the past decade the borough has been paying off previous debts and still showing a profit each year. Secretary Keefer pointed out that the current debt, $26,500, had started out a dozen years ago as a $50,000 indebtedness.

With the experience of its water system behind it, Keefer added, the town "can be sure that its sewer system will pay for itself in time and eventually the borough will be able to either reduce taxes, or water or sewer costs to the townspeople and possibly all three. That, in many years in the future. But a town that owns its own water and sewer system can make money through the operation of the system and thus can provide better services to its residents at a lower cost to all."

Town Expanding
While the sewer program was still a matter of conjecture today the borough continued on its regular program of expansion. The town recently secured some land along the Prince street extension over which it will open up a street and lay a water line to another street which is not yet named but which joins North Queen street at the Crouse garage. When the streets and water system are placed there will be two more blocks available for those who want to build in Littlestown.

And the number who want to build in Littlestown is believed by borough officials to be great. But the town fathers do not worry about that. The town has plenty of room to grow. All they need to do is to help along that growth as the need arises, an official said.

LITTLESTOWN CAGERS SNARE 17 CONTESTS

The Littlestown high school boys' and girls' basketball teams turned in a total 17 victories against 15 defeats during the season which closed last Tuesday.

Ten victories and seven reverses were recorded by the Littlestown boys while the girls' team won seven and lost eight.

The boys tallied a total of 648 points to their opponents 437 while the girls looped 381 tally against 397.

Defeated Champs
Outstanding among the victories scored by the boys was the 35-29 win over East Berlin in the final Adams county league game. The setback was the only league reverse for East Berlin who copped the county championship.

Victories were scored by Littlestown over Arendtsville, Fairfield, New Oxford, Quincey, Boiling Springs, East Berlin and Emmitsburg.

The girls scored wins over Westminster, East Berlin, Fairfield, Boiling Springs and Emmitsburg.

Jack Bublrick, a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's college, coached the teams during the past season.

Bublrick served for three years in the Army Air Force and saw action as a gunner over Germany. Prior to his entry into the service he was director of freshman athletics at Mt. St. Mary's.

GETTYSBURG C.C. LAUDS NEIGHBOR ON SUPPLEMENT

"I want to congratulate the residents of Littlestown and vicinity upon the inauguration of the Littlestown Supplement of The Gettysburg Times," said Henry W. Garvin, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce.

"In addition to giving Littlestown its own newspaper, this endeavor will closer cement the neighborly feeling between Gettysburg, the county seat of Adams, and the second largest community in the county.

"These two communities should work in close harmony and co-operation and the Littlestown Supplement will contribute greatly toward bringing us closer together. . . It will make the ten short highway miles that separate us much shorter and will lead to the successful achievement of many enterprises that these two communities should be interested in.

"I send greetings to the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce and all other residents of the town and vicinity and pledge the cooperation of the Gettysburg Chamber to any endeavor in which Littlestown feels we might be of assistance."

SAVED BY SLIDE

Cynwyd, Pa., (AP)—A landslide, which tumbled a 40-foot hill into Mrs. Donald Hardy's back yard and collapsed two retaining walls, proved a blessing in disguise. Mrs. Hardy, wife of an army colonel now in China, was planning to start house-hunting when the home she now rents was put up for sale. "But the would-be buyers took one look at the backyard," she said, "and fled."

Capable Correspondent To Represent "The Times" In Littlestown And Vicinity

Littlestown events, from personal happenings to news of major importance, are being ably reported for The Gettysburg Times by Paul Emory (Pat) Weaver, who recently returned to Littlestown after serving for three and a half years in the navy.

Mr. Weaver has resumed his old job as manager of the Littlestown State store, which he handles in addition to his work as news correspondent and advertising and circulation representative of The Times in Littlestown.

He may be reached for news, subscriptions or advertising space in The Times any afternoon by telephone at Littlestown 26, and at other times by calling room 9, Schottel's hotel, phone 9093. His mail address is post office box 182. Mr. Weaver will welcome news of social events, club and fraternal activities, personals, as well as all other items of reader interest to Littlestown residents, for publication in The Times.

Born In Indiana

"Pat" Weaver was born November 21, 1910 at Kentland, Ind., but has lived in Pennsylvania since 1925. His parents were the late Thomas O. and Alverta H. Weaver. He is a graduate of Littlestown High school, class of 1929, and of Gettysburg college, where he received his A. B. degree in 1933. He is an accredited high school teacher of foreign languages, English and social studies, but has not followed the teaching profession for a number of years, except for his teaching in navy schools during the war.

Mr. Weaver enlisted in the navy on May 13, 1942, and saw service in both the Atlantic and Pacific. After receiving his basic training at Newport, R. I., he was sent to Radio Material School, three months at the Bliss Electrical School, Washington, D. C., and five months at Treasure Island, Calif. He was then assigned to the Atlantic destroyer fleet as a radio technician on the U. S. S. Tillman.

In Sicilian Campaign

His ship took a leading part in the assault on Sicily in July, 1943. After this campaign, he was sent to Portland, Me., to study the high frequency direction finder, a secret radio gear which is credited with overcoming the German submarine menace. He was then assigned to a destroyer tender, the U. S. S. Denebola, which is a large repair ship, and went from there to the U. S. S. Philadelphia, a light cruiser. After a short time on the latter ship, Weaver was sent to the Navy's Teacher Training School in Chicago, and took a two-months' course, after which he was assigned to Bliss Electrical School, Washington, D. C., to teach mathematics, electricity, and radio.

When the Navy cancelled its contract with Bliss, and after he had served as an instructor there for 14 months, Weaver was sent to Treasure Island, Calif., again for a two-months' course in advanced radio. In July, 1945, he was assigned to an overseas shore unit in the Philippine Islands, and was on his way there when the Japs surrendered. He spent 39 days at Samar waiting for transportation back to the states; landed at Seattle, Wash., and finally got his discharge on Nov. 13, at Bainbridge, Md. He traveled about 50,000 miles during his 3½ years in the Navy.

Mr. Weaver served two terms before the war as president of the Alpha Fire company, Littlestown, and declined to run for a third term. He was president the last time

Littlestown was host to the Adams county Firemen's association at its annual convention, in 1939. He was a charter member of the Lions club, and served as chairman of the program committee and editor of the club bulletin when the group first organized in Littlestown. He is a member of the Gettysburg College chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. He is also affiliated with several lodges.

Second Largest Town In Adams County Has Adopted Daily Times

Littlestown was without its weekly newspaper.

New Community Organ

In more recent years a new weekly sprang up and it struggled along through many years of publishing. Some years were financial successes, others were not so enjoyable. Finally its long life ended and another publisher took it, but it, too, passed out of existence. For some time Littlestown has been without its own newspaper.

Realizing the need for a medium of expression for the second largest community in the county, and appreciating the tremendous financial outlay involved in such a venture, The Gettysburg Times is instituting a Littlestown supplement, for the service and convenience of the residents, the business, commercial and social life, of the borough of Littlestown.

To make unnecessary the financial outlay of establishing a new publishing organization, the training of men and women in the printing arts and craft, The Gettysburg Times in presenting the Littlestown supplement is offering its trained news and advertising staffs, its compositors and linotype operators, its pressmen and long-established delivery system to fill this long-felt need in Littlestown.

News Columns Are Open

Our new correspondent, P. Emory "Pat" Weaver, will cooperate with regular Times employees in publishing the weekly Littlestown supplement. It will contain current news of persons and events in the life of Littlestown and vicinity. There will be feature and human interest stories. There will be word and picture stories of interest not only to residents of Littlestown and surrounding area, but to all the people of Adams county.

This initial edition marks the debut of the Littlestown supplement of The Gettysburg Times.

An invitation is extended to individuals, civic and fraternal organizations, churches, schools, industrialists and others to make this their medium of expression. The news columns are open to all legitimate enterprises.

Make this YOUR Littlestown supplement.

Wedding

Weaver-Harrell

Margaret Elks Harrell, daughter of Mrs. Joshua Elks, Washington, North Carolina, became the bride of P. Emory Weaver, son of Mrs. Thomas O. Weaver, Littlestown, Pa., on December 2nd last. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of St. James Catholic church, Frederickburg, Va., by the Rev. B. L. Jackson, assistant pastor Mr. Weaver.

MRS. P. EMORY WEAVER

who was discharged from the navy in November, is manager of the Pennsylvania State Store at Littlestown; and also at present is serving as Littlestown correspondent and representative of THE TIMES. He attended Littlestown high school and Gettysburg college, receiving his bachelor of arts degree and membership in Phi Beta Kappa from the latter institution. Before the war, he was active in the Littlestown Lions club, fire company, and Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Weaver attended the Washington, N. C., high school, and until recently was employed at Washington, D. C., where she served as a bookkeeper, cashier and assistant hostess for Hot Shoppes, Inc. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver expect to take up residence in Littlestown as soon as living quarters can be found.

recently purchased the Crystal Springs dairy, employs eight men, including drivers and serves both Littlestown and Gettysburg with milk products.

Raincoats for civilians and infant wear are the products currently being made by the 75 employees of the Jones-Littlestown clothing company. Established in 1939, the concern makes various types of wearing apparel depending upon the need for garments at the moment.

One of the older industries in the town is the M. B. Sneringer concrete block company with about 20 employees.

The Keystone Cabinet company makes all types of cabinets including the large built-in kitchen cabinets with 110 employees taking part in the work.

In addition to the industries there are a large number of other businesses and concerns in the town ranging from house construction firms to retail stores.

544 STUDENTS IN 3 SCHOOLS IN LITTLESTOWN

With 544 students attending the three schools in Littlestown, educational standards in the community have been increased throughout the years until at the present time the Littlestown schools rank among the leading educational establishments in the county.

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown public schools has done much to advance the educational standards of the community—a situation he thoroughly understands, having been a member of the first class, the class of 1914, to graduate from the Littlestown high school after it became a first class secondary education institution.

The high school was then located, as it had been from 1901, at the present grade school building on East King street. The present high school building on Maple avenue was constructed in 1932. There are now 176 students in the high school and 268 in the grade school. St. Aloysius parochial school has 100 students.

New Athletic Gear

In keeping with the school's progressive attitude the Littlestown public schools were the first to take advantage of the surplus athletic equipment now being offered by the federal government. Richard C. Lighter, county surplus property chairman, said recently that the school turned in a complete request for athletic and gymnasium equipment as soon as it was available, the first school in the county to make such a request. The equipment, when it is purchased, will go towards providing better recreational activities for the Littlestown youngsters.

The high school is proud of its Industrial arts course which has four units in woodworking, cold metal, electricity and mechanical drawing, and is even prouder of its power stitching and sewing course, one of the two in Pennsylvania.

An apprenticeship course on power stitching work, the course was set

Gentlemen:

It does a fellow good to know that at last our community of Littlestown has a newspaper that is willing to give an adequate space within its pages to those who will make the future news of our nation—the boys.

up after the Windsor shoe company donated 12 power machines for stitching and sewing to the school for such use.

Need Junior High

The next step for the Littlestown schools, Supervising Principal King believes, will be the establishment of a Junior-Senior high school set up in the community. The new Junior high organization will probably be effected next year.

Littlestown's Catholic school youngsters attend the eight grades taught by the sisters at the parochial school and then attend the Delone high school at McSherrystown which is partially supported by the Littlestown Catholic church.

A full time extracurricular program keeps the youngsters busy at Littlestown high school. Basketball, baseball, girls' volleyball, tennis and dodge ball are among the athletic competitions and every student belongs to a club activity which is a regularly scheduled part of the school's program.

Girls In Shop Club

The clubs prove that the girls like to invade the men's field and vice versa with 22 girls belonging to a shop club in which the girls learn how to do the electrical, cold metal work and other things taught ordinarily to the boys in the Industrial Arts course. The girls take to the shop work "like ducks to water" says Principal King who adds that the girls are quick to learn and soon master the most complicated work.

Eleven brave boys of the high school have also invaded what is traditionally a women's activity and are learning to cook and keep house in a domestic science club sponsored by the school.

Other clubs provided for the youngsters are camera, chess, atlas, twirling (baton work) piano, typing and a hobby club.

Town Teachers

Among the teachers at the Littlestown public schools are Supervising principal King, Lloyd L. Stavelly, social studies; J. Arlene Spangler, English; Annabelle M. Manbeck, music; H. Dean Stover, mathematics and French; D. S. Kammerer, industrial arts; Virginia O. Sheely, home economics; Virginia C. Rahn, English and mathematics; Jack B. Brier, physical education; Anna Wulfer, eighth grade; Miriam Geisler, seventh grade; Sara E. Basehart, sixth grade; Harvey W. Schwartz, fifth grade; Myrtle R. Menchey, fourth grade; Vivian N. Brumgard, third grade; Hildah. J. Dauter, second grade; Naomi C. Schwartz, first grade; Paul A. Harnor, part time band teacher and Brenda B. Walker, part time school nurse.

The Littlestown school board includes Henry E. Waltman, president; Richard A. Little, vice president; Luther W. Ritter, secretary; Lloyd E. Crouse, treasurer and Carl W. Baumgardner.

CARROLL SHOE HAS ENVIABLE "WAR" RECORD

Littlestown's leading industry — the Carroll Shoe company — now back in peacetime production, holds a record of achievement during the war years equalled by few and unsurpassed by any.

Its service flag, which includes the Blue Ridge Rubber company's plant at Taneytown, has 310 stars. Ten are gold ones, representative of the former employees who answered their country's call and paid the supreme sacrifice.

A different kind of flag flew over the factory symbolizing the efforts of those who remained on the home front and helped provide the shoes of war. It was the coveted and cherished Army-Navy "E" award flag, the famous blue and red pennant which these two branches of the service awarded only for conspicuous service and effort.

Million Garments

Both the Carroll company and the Blue Ridge Rubber company are subsidiaries of the Cambridge Rubber company of Cambridge, Mass.

Conversion from peace to war production after the Jap sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, was rapid. From making shoes and rubber footwear, the plants swung into the production of raincoats, ponchos and parka suits. More than 1,000,000 of these garments were made for the army and navy, and were used in almost every part of the world.

The factories went into six-day operation with two shifts, a day and a night shift. The raincoats and other garments for the servicemen were turned out as fast as machines and human hands could make them, in standard O. D. and in camouflage fabrics.

Praised By Patterson

The army-navy "E" award and flag were presented on February 14, 1945. High officials in both branches of the service came to Littlestown to participate in the ceremonies. Maj. Albert K. Dannenbaum, representing the Philadelphia quarter-master depot, presented the award for the army, and Lt. Edward B. Harvey, from the Fourth Naval District, Philadelphia, represented the navy. Earlier in the year, on January 20, 1945, the company was commended for its war effort in a personal letter from Secretary of War Robert B. Patterson.

Krichten Manages Zerfing Hardware

Clarence J. "Judge" Krichten is the new manager of the George M. Zerfing hardware store in Littlestown, according to a full-page advertisement appearing in today's edition of the Littlestown Supplement of The Gettysburg Times.

Krichten was a clerk at the C. L. Marling hardware store which preceded the Zerfing store on the same location in Littlestown and which was purchased from the Marling estate a year ago by Mr. Zerfing and James A. Reaver, who is co-owner of the store.

Clerks at the Littlestown store are Joe Long and Ernie Sentz, both recently discharged World War II veterans.

Zerfing is planning a spring opening for both the Gettysburg and Littlestown stores according to the advertisement. The Littlestown store has been renovated and new display cases are being installed at the present time.

ABSENT-MINDED

Portland, Ore. (P)—Shoe Cobbler Charles L. Mahan picked such a good hiding place for his cash he couldn't find it himself—until he tossed a scrap leather box into an incinerator and burned $830 in bills. Secret service agents heard his woe-filled tale and said some of the charred remains might be redeemable.

"CAMBRIDGE" IS SYMBOL OF FINE QUALITY

Since 1914 the name "Cambridge" on a box or a pair of shoes has meant quality. And now, more than ever, the Cambridge Rubber company and its subsidiaries, the Blue Ridge Rubber and the Carroll Shoe companies of Littlestown, Taneytown and Arendtsville are living up to the old-line tradition of the parent Massachusetts concern.

The Taneytown plant, recently rebuilt after being destroyed by fire in April, 1942, manufactures rubbers and overshoes. The Littlestown factory is humming at top speed turning out and shipping between 3,200 and 3,600 pairs of men's and women's summer sports shoes. Uppers for the shoes are made and stitched at the new plant at Arendtsville.

96 Operations

Visitors to the Littlestown plant receive the impression that "quality" is not just a word, but something that is built into a Cambridge shoe from the time the uppers are first cut from the huge bolts of material, down through 96 consecutive operations until the shoes are wrapped in tissue paper and boxed for shipment.

It must be so, because orders and repeat orders pour into the Littlestown plant at a rate which is forcing the executives to constantly extend and enlarge their manufacturing facilities. Few concerns have evidenced such rapid expansion since their reconversion to peacetime production.

From a rubber-soled shoe, "Cambridge" from Littlestown has become a composition-soled shoe. Every development in the field of synthetic rubber, hastened and accelerated by the war and resultant shortage of crude rubber, has been seized upon by the Blue Ridge and Carroll Shoe companies. When you walk on a pair of Cambridge shoes today, you walk on a composition of rubber and synthetic which has proven more durable by far than any pre-war product.

2 Production Lines

Employees of the Littlestown plant enjoy a light and airy place in which to work. Two complete production lines are arranged, starting with the cutting department, the machines where women stitch the uppers, the huge stamping machines which cut out the soles, and the section where the felt insoles are cut.

Inspection is frequent through the many operations, which include the final pressing on of the sole and the polishing. The soles themselves are applied under 300 pounds pressure. Liquid latex plays an important role in this and other stages of assembly.

The shoes thus turned out are sold to retail establishments throughout the world. At the time this writer visited the plant, shipments were being made to points in Sweden and to Honolulu. Cambridge shoes are sported from Bar Harbor to Malibu, and from Stockholm to Waukegan.

Xmas Packages Cheer Athens, Greece, Pupils

Pupils of the Littlestown grade schools last fall "cast bread upon the waters" and have reaped their reward in two letters received from pupils of the Athens, Greece, high school, expressing thanks for the Christmas boxes which the Littlestown children sent, through the Adams County Junior Red Cross.

The Junior Red Cross shipped 129 Christmas gift boxes last October, some of them going to children in Greece. One of the "thank you" letters came from a 15-year-old Greek boy who fought the Germans and lost an eye doing it. The other was from a Greek boy who also fought for Greek liberty for four long years.

Written In Greek

The letters were written in Greek, and translated by Mrs. Tom Trandes, whose daughter, Helen, is a pupil in Miss Miriam Geisler's seventh grade classes in the Littlestown grade school.

Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman of the Junior Red Cross, said today that additional boxes, filled by Adams county school children, would be shipped April 20. There are still some available for filling, she said. A folder goes with each box, containing names of schools, the pupils, the teacher and a place for acknowledgment and "thank you" note.

"The notes in these boxes serve to promote international friendship," Mrs. Codori said. "The children of other nations learn more about the school children of this country and build new friendships through exchange of letters."

"Not Forgotten" said the letter from Agelos Chapellis, "the American Red Cross, with the help of the Greek Red Cross, gave to the pupils of the high school of Athens, pencils, candy and other things. I was very happy when I found a note in the package. This note was from the good children from your school. They didn't forget us, who fought with you for liberty. That's why I thank you."

LITTLESTOWN'S CHAMBER PLANS CIVIC PROJECTS

Littlestown's Chamber of Commerce, which has been languishing in the doldrums for the past five years, is again an active and up-and-coming community organization in the borough, and is already beginning to make plans for aggressive community action for the civic betterment of the town.

Immediate plans include a housing survey and the listing of property in the borough which may be converted into apartments. Littlestown, like most other communities, faces a very definite housing shortage. A chamber official was authority for the statement that 80 new homes would be built in the borough if building materials were available. Both the Littlestown State Bank and the Littlestown National Bank have numerous loan applications ready for favorable action as soon as it becomes possible to obtain materials, this spokesman said.

Other Projects

Other plans of the rejuvenated chamber are necessarily being held in abeyance until the membership drive has been completed. At a get-together meeting of Littlestown business and professional men held January 23, the chamber was completely reorganized. Clarence L. Schwartz, Littlestown postmaster, was elected president of the new Chamber of Commerce; Charles W. Weikert, vice president; S. Clair Trostle secretary and Chester Byers, treasurer.

Directors of the chamber are Lu-

One Loses Eye

"When I learn English I will write in your language. My schoolmates and I were fighting the Germans when a bullet hit me near the left eye and blinded this eye."

The letter from Manuel Nicolas said: "For my country of Greece I send you a 'hello' from my heart, and I wish you a good New Year 1946 and to find you all happy and healthy. I am one of the children that you made happy with your gifts. I thank you very much."

"When they gave me the package in my hand I felt a pleasant feeling and that I have so many good friends in a country so far away from my country. I want to have your friendship always and to keep it by letters, because writing is the best way to know each other better."

"Your gift brought happiness to all the children after four years of war. I thank you."

"SUPPLEMENT" SEEN AS NEW AID TO UNITY

"Because we are a part of the Littlestown business activity, we are happy to extend congratulations to the Littlestown borough fathers and The Gettysburg Times on the inauguration of The Times' Little-town Supplement." Frank J. Krocak, vice president of the Windsor Shoe company, incorporated, of Littlestown, said.

FRANK J. KROCAK

"The supplement should serve as a means to bring the people of our county much closer together," Mr. Krocak added. "It is an improvement and presents another step forward for a successful community, and one to induce all Littletonians to carry on with renewed spirit."

The Windsor Shoe company was founded in 1937 and is a subsidiary of D. Snyder, Richard A. Little, Nevaeh A. Crouse, Dr. J. R. Riden, William V. Sneeringer, Mr. Schwartz, Wilbur A. Bankert, Theron W. Spangler, Dr. Samuel L. Bucke, Mr. Weikert and Stanley B. Stover.

Only one committee has been appointed thus far by President Schwartz, appointment of others being deferred until after completion of the membership campaign. On the membership committee are Charles W. Weikert, Richard A. Little and Holman Sell.

Find "Abuse" By Car Dealers On Charges

Harrisburg, March 8 (P)—A legislative committee Thursday accepted what it described as a "challenge" from automobile dealers whom it charged with "excessive finance charges" in the sale of second-hand cars.

"The frank admissions by dealers of the abuse and the excessive charges which now prevail in the sale and financing of cars is a challenge to the Legislature to undertake remedial measures," said Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter (R-Lehigh), chairman of the state government Commission's committee which is probing what Governor Martin termed "sharp practices" in automobile financing.

"This committee will accept the challenge and will take under prompt consideration ways and means of abolishing these evils," he added in a statement issued after another in a series of committee hearings.

of the A. S. Beck Shoe corporation. All of the shoes manufactured in the Littlestown plant are sold exclusively in the Beck stores, throughout the United States. The firm manufactures high grade leather shoes, something never produced in this vicinity prior to the opening of the Littlestown factory.

According to Mr. Krocak, progress has been slow, but continued, and has been accomplished only through the efforts and good will of the Littlestown residents and of the employees and friends in the vicinity. "We have been faced with many problems, but through the conscientious efforts of employees and department heads we have overcome them," Mr. Krocak said.

The latest innovations at Windsor are a week's vacation with pay and a substantial free health and life insurance policy for all employees. More than 100 names appear on the company's honor roll of those who served with the armed forces during World War II.

The Windsor Shoe company is an active part of a growing community.

Butler, N. J., March 8 (P)—Frank O'Hara, former Penn State college and once football coach at Bangor (Pa.) high school, is the new gridiron mentor at Butler high school. O'Hara, recently discharged by the navy, coached Bangor teams for five years compiling a record of 35 wins, eight losses and two ties.

Historical Sketch Of Borough Of Littlestown

By P. EMORY WEAVER
PART I
Early Beginnings

Although Littlestown was not incorporated as a borough until 1864, people had settled there as early as 1734. The original inhabitants are said to have been German Lutherans, but Maryland Catholics arrived about the same time, and some Irish immigrants also found their way to Littlestown. The town itself was laid out by Peter Little, from whom it received its name. The settlement was first called Petersburg, and Mr. Little stated in his deeds that he wished it to be so called forever, but his wishes were not carried out. To avoid confusion with another town in the state by that name, the town was called Little's Town, or Kleinesstadt, as the Pennsylvania Dutch called it (Klein is the German word for Little, and Stadt for town). Captain Joseph McClellan, in his "Diary of the Pennsylvania Line," says:

"May 26th, 1781. Marched from York at 9 a. m., under the command of General Wayne, and encamped 11 miles on the road to Fredericktown."
"May 27. The general beat at daylight, and the troops took up the line of march at sunrise, and halted near Peter Littlestown, it being 14 miles."
"May 28. Marched through Taneytown, and halted upon the banks of Pipe creek, being 14 miles."

The force consisted of 800 effective men, and the troops were on their way to Yorktown, Va.
The land adjoining Littlestown was the boundary of the disputed tract known as "Digges Choice." In 1727 a warrant was issued by the Maryland authorities for a tract of 6,822 acres to John Digges, which embraced Conewago township and part of Germany township, which were then in Lancaster county, Pa., but were supposed to be in the county of Baltimore, province of Maryland. This land was surveyed in 1732, the year George Washington was born. Andrew Schreiber and David Young, in 1734, settled on what is now the land of George Basehoar, about three miles from Littlestown.

After the Lancaster county court directed the Monocacy road, leading from Wrightsville, York, Hanover, and Littlestown to Frederick, Md., to be opened in 1736, Martin Houser took out warrants (on July 2, 1741, and July 2, 1743) which were later assigned to Peter Little, to whom a patent of 311 acres was granted by the Penns. September 18, 1760. Five years later Peter Little laid out a town on this land, dividing it into 37 lots of 66 feet frontage and having a depth of 264 feet. The purchaser was to build a substantial dwelling on each lot, at least 18 feet square, within three years from May 1, 1765. The road opened in 1736 he called King street, and the road leading from Baltimore to Pittsburgh (which was called the Gettysburg and Petersburg turnpike during the last century) was called Queen street.

Until the Mason and Dixon line was surveyed in 1767, it was not clear to all that Conewago and Germany townships, including Littlestown, were not a part of Maryland. Littlestown was situated in Germany township, two miles north of the boundary between the states. The town grew slowly. In 1797 it contained about 80 houses. In 1800 the population was 250; and the next census showed it to be 287. By the formation of Adams county out of York, in 1800, Littlestown became the oldest town in the county.

The author wishes to acknowledge extensive use of data contained in the "History of Saint Aloysius Church, Littlestown, Pa.," written by the late Hon. William McSherry, Jr., and published in 1893 by J. E. Wible, Gettysburg printer.

NOT FOOLPROOF

Dallas, (P)—L. T. Busby thought he had a burglar-proof method of locking his bedroom. He removed the door knob and hid it in the refrigerator. A hungry burglar raided the ice box, found the knob, entered the bedroom and took Busby's radio and clothing.

TRAVELER

Seattle, (P)—Nineteen-year-old Gladys Ward, enroute to Williamstown, Pa., to marry ex-GI Garman Schutt, is on her first trip "outside" to the states from her home at Sitka, Alaska. The young bride-to-be was impressed by Seattle's hills and said: "I've never seen so many houses. Are there enough people here to fill them?"

Feller Gets Big Offer From Mexican League

Mexico City, March 8 (P)—Bobby Feller, Cleveland's ace pitcher and one of the highest paid twirlers in organized baseball at a reported $40,000 a season, has been offered $300,000 to jump to the Mexican league for a three-year period, president Jorge Pasquel disclosed Thursday. Feller would be paid $100,000 a season.

"That is nothing," smiled the head of the so-called "outlaw" league. Next season he said he hopes to get Hank Greenberg and Ted Williams, slugging outfielders for the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, respectively.

"In getting in touch with them right now," he told the Associated Press in an interview. He did not say how much he plans to offer Greenberg and Williams. Neither did he say if Feller had replied to his offer.

POISONED BY ROOTS

Franklin, Pa., March 8 (P)—Russell Latchaw, 3, died in Franklin hospital Tuesday night from nibbling poison plant roots uprooted by his father while digging a ditch near the family home at Van, R. D. A brother, Larry, 5, also ate the roots but recovered.

Prominent Industry of Littlestown

The above photograph shows the Carroll Shoe Company and the Blue Ridge Rubber Company, Littlestown, one of the largest industries in the county. On the flagstaff can be seen the American flag and the famous Army-Navy E award, the only county industry to be so honored by the government. A star was recently awarded the company to be added to the E award.

ROTARY, LIONS SPONSOR FINE SCOUT TROOP

Littlestown has a Boy Scout troop which its sponsors and leaders believe is unique in several respects. It is one of the largest troops in this section of the state, with 62 members; it is one of the few which is taken on canoe trips, and is also one of the troops which has already gone on two "hikes" on the Appalachian trail, and expects to see more of this scenic way.

Troop 84 is sponsored jointly by the Littlestown Rotary and Lions clubs. Its scoutmaster is Alton Bowers, and its assistant scoutmaster, Wilbur Meekley. Paul E. King, principal of the Littlestown high school, is chairman of the troop committee; Edgar A. Wolfe, secretary and Wilbur A. Bankert, treasurer. Members of the troop committee from the Lions club are: Mr. Wolfe and Mr. Bankert, Erwin A. Rebert and Leonard Kerchner; from the Rotary club, Mr. King, Luther D. Snyder, Cloy I. Crouse, Luther W. Ritter and Stanley B. Stover.

The troop is only two years old, but claimed to be one of the finest troops of Boy Scouts in scouting. Its leaders and sponsors are active in promoting programs for the young scouts and in keeping activities humming.

Members of the troop have covered more than 50 miles of the Appalachian trail. Additional trips are on the program for the future. Last year troop members were taken on a canoe trip from York Haven to the Maryland line on the Susquehanna, and enjoyed another trip by canoe on the Monocacy river.

The troop has three assistant scoutmasters: Carroll Reed, James Wehler and Charles Hall. There are nine patrols including:

Moose patrol: Albert Stock, Richard Wolfe, Robert Yingling, Jackie Mackley, Leroy Bish, Kenneth Eyer, William Jacoby and Charles Jeffries. Tomahawk patrol: Robert King, Robert Reimann, Cyril Hockensmith, Harold Hockensmith, Herman Boyd, Harold Cool and Ralph Unger.

Wolf patrol: Richard Boyd, Wilmer Dutterer, Richard Bowers, Jack Bucher, William Koons and Allen Shandbrook.

Eagle patrol: Harold Gerrick, Glenn Dutterer, Francis Gerrick, Glenn Crouse, Joel Mummert and Clyde Bucher.

Cobra patrol: Charles Brown, Everett Feeser, Gene Hankey, Robert Harner, Victor Reynolds, William Eckenrode, Richard Eckenrode and Lee Kearns.

Tiger Patrol: Kenneth Rice, Kenneth Olinger, Richard Jones, Mahlon Weikert and Paul Kearns.

Flaming Arrow patrol: Robert Hall, Hamilton Walker, Leon Gage and Robert Snyder.

Bat patrol: Wilbur Sentz, William Snyder, Richard Mehning, Richard Miller and Richard Geisler.

White Moccasin patrol: George Harner, Robert Baker, Jackie Miller and Paul Kump.

Industrial Union Flays Injunctions

Harrisburg, March 8 (AP)—The ex-Industrial Union council (CIO) Thursday criticized as "unwarranted in law" the anti-picketing injunctions issued by Allegheny and Philadelphia courts.

The injunctions, limiting the number of pickets, were issued by judges Sara M. Soffel of Allegheny county and Judge Thomas D. Finletter of Philadelphia against the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union (CIO), now on strike.

The actions, the CIO council said in a statement, were "provocative of the misuse of the police power in the interest of the employing corporations in arbitrary flouting the orderly solution of the questions at issue in these strikes."

KILLED IN CRASH

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—Mrs. Ethel Langford, 33, Philadelphia, was killed Tuesday night when her automobile collided with a parked truck.

FIRE COMPANY WILL OBSERVE 61ST BIRTHDAY

Alpha Fire company No. 1, of Littlestown, will celebrate its 61st birthday in August and may, company officials feel, sometime during the year revise its maximum membership. At present the company has a full quota of 200 members.

The company is the second in Littlestown, with an organization known as the Juniors having been in existence as a bucket brigade for some years prior to 1885.

In August, 1885, a group of citizens met in the public school building and organized the Alpha Fire Company No. 1. At that time the first equipment was purchased, consisting of hose and reel, ladders and truck. In the summer of 1887 the present home of the company on East King Street, was built and dedicated, and the first hand engine purchased, which remained in use until 1896. At that time the company added a two-tank hand-propelled chemical engine to its equipment. In 1910 this was replaced by the first piece of motor-driven fire apparatus in Adams County, a motorized chemical engine. In 1919 the company purchased a modern combination pumper and chemical American LaFrance engine, capacity 350 gallons per minute.

Buy New Pumper

A large electric siren was placed in the cupola of the Engine House in 1923. In August, 1929, the company purchased a new American LaFrance engine and pumper No. 911, costing $5,150.10. The money was raised before the engine was bought. The company is planning to purchase a new American LaFrance in the near future.

The company has modern equipment, including raincoats and gas masks for the men. A meeting is held the first Tuesday of each month. In 1938, the "Uniform Rank" was formed, consisting of 53 uniformed men. This group won many prizes for its snappy drilling and smart appearance.

The officers of the Fire Company at present are: President, Wayne C. Arnold; Vice President, Kenneth Sparver; Secretary, Harry W. Badgers; Treasurer, James U. Bowers; Pipe Foreman, Donald Feeser; Chief, Jay D. Basehoar; Janitor and Truck Foreman, George Halter; first assistant fire chief, Kenneth Sentz; second assistant, G. R. Jacoby; Trustees, Henry T. Waltman, Charles W. Snyder, Harold Sparver, Richard Little, and Almeda Ecker.

Honor Roll

In World War II, the Company had 47 members on the Honor Roll, one of whom became a Gold Star member. He was Ernest A. Mayers, and was killed in action in Europe. The other 46 on the Honor Roll are: Lester Clewell, George E. Deardorf, P. Emory Weaver, Dr. Richard Phreaner, Melvin Snyder, James Spalding, J. Allen Kindig, Millard Doyle, Jay D. Basehoar, Richard L. Stultz, Bernard Stonifer, Donald Belford, Kenneth Steick, Monroe J. Stavely, Fred F. Blocher, John Sentz, Paul B. Weaver, Kenneth Sparver, George Hornberger, Edgar A. Wisotzky, Glenn Ohler, Walter S. Mehning, Paul E. Altoff, Charles A. Snyder, Francis W. Dutterer, Fred Renner, Dale E. Weaver, Clarence Kriehiten, Jr., Wayne C. Arnold, L. V. Borgardner, Jr., Claude E. Snyder, John H. Flickinger, Monroe G. Morelock, Robert V. Weaver, John Bloom, James Rang, Norman Hahn, Luther Hankey, Donald Lemmon, John N. Sell, Robert Koontz, Kenneth Sentz, Vernon Study, Sterling Snyder, John Hankey and Richard Long.

NO THANKS

Los Angeles (AP)—A government agency gave the city school system two carloads of potatoes and Business Manager A. S. Nibecker a headache.

The potatoes came free with the proviso they be served at school cafeterias.

That's all very well, says Nibecker, but costs of unloading, peeling and serving the potatoes would overrun the cafeteria's budget.

Serious Upset On Farm Front Listed

Harrisburg, March 8 (AP)—The most serious upset on the Pennsylvania economic farm front in many months was reported by the Department of Agriculture Thursday in the form of a six-point drop in the index of prices received by farmers during the month ended February 15.

The purchasing price of the farmer's dollar dropped four cents to $1.20 in comparison with the value of the 1909-14 dollar, the department said.

Partly responsible was a six-point rise in the index of prices farmers pay for goods and services, it said. This amounted to 178 per cent of the 1909-14 average, the highest since its peak of 201 in December, 1920.

BACK TO WORK

Philadelphia, March 8 (AP)—The 2,500 longshoremen who took a half-holiday to vote Wednesday on a new contract were back at work today. Members of the International Longshoremen's association (AFL) walked off their jobs at noon yesterday to attend a meeting to approve the contract.

You can take General MacArthur's word for it!

"The Red Cross has done a 100 per cent job in this theatre. Mathematical limitations alone prevent my saying the Red Cross services here have been more than 100 per cent."

—General Douglas MacArthur

SO speaks a distinguished eye-witness of your Red Cross in action. General MacArthur saw the Red Cross at your fighting man's side, all through the gruelling months of the Pacific campaign. He saw Red Cross huts in the sweltering jungle, bringing a touch of home to homesick, heartsick men.

He knows that wherever your fighting man went, your Red Cross went, too—that wherever, whenever that man needed respite and recreation, help with a personal problem, or just someone to talk to, the Red Cross was there.

He also knows, as you do, that your Red Cross cannot yet say, "Mission accomplished." It still has an enormous task to do.

One War is over...but another War has begun

Thousands of our men still in veterans' hospitals and in far-away lands overseas need comfort and cheer now, as they did when the bombs were bursting. And as our servicemen return to civilian life, your Red Cross must lend a helping hand.

And when disaster strikes here at home—fire, flood, tornado—your Red Cross must be ready with aid for the victims. Its war against human misery is never wholly won.

So remember—it is your Red Cross. It depends on you for its very existence. So give from your heart. Give generously. Give today!

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON

DON'T SPARE THE STORK

Kansas City, (AP)—Racing the stork is getting to be a habit with Cab Driver Claud Gaddy, who just made his fifth emergency run to a hospital with an expectant mother who barely arrived in time. The frantic cab driver left Mrs. Virginia Niel, Joplin, Mo., with hospital attendants just 14 minutes before she gave birth to a seven-pound daughter.
